

Welk Ranahan Resort - ART

Breckenridge, Colorado

Owner: Welk Resorts

Use: New construction, Art Installations

Area: - xxx sf

Services Provided: Renovation Architecture, Design

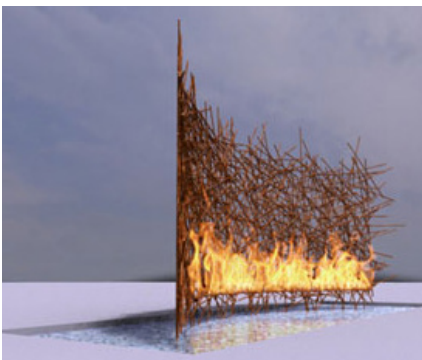

Completion Date: October 2019

Historical Mining Inspired Display in Lobby

Mining inspired Signage and Pool

Project for a Fire Sculpture on site

This fractional ownership ski resort is positioned as the Northern Gateway into the town of Breckenridge.

The site houses large accommodations and amenities building, an employee housing and maintenance facility and a meeting center.

The design vision is rooted in the industrial past, incorporating the mining elements and industrial revolution artifacts indicative to the history of the town.

Site planning was informed Replete with indigenous vegetation, lavish amenities and an emphasis on pedestrian connectivity to the natural features of the site, i.e. the Blue River, and the various man-made aquatic and fire harnessing elements.

For this project, OSA created sculptural objects inspired by natural elements, Earth geology, Fire, and Water.

Client focused, delivering extraordinary service

