Impulse Buying Area

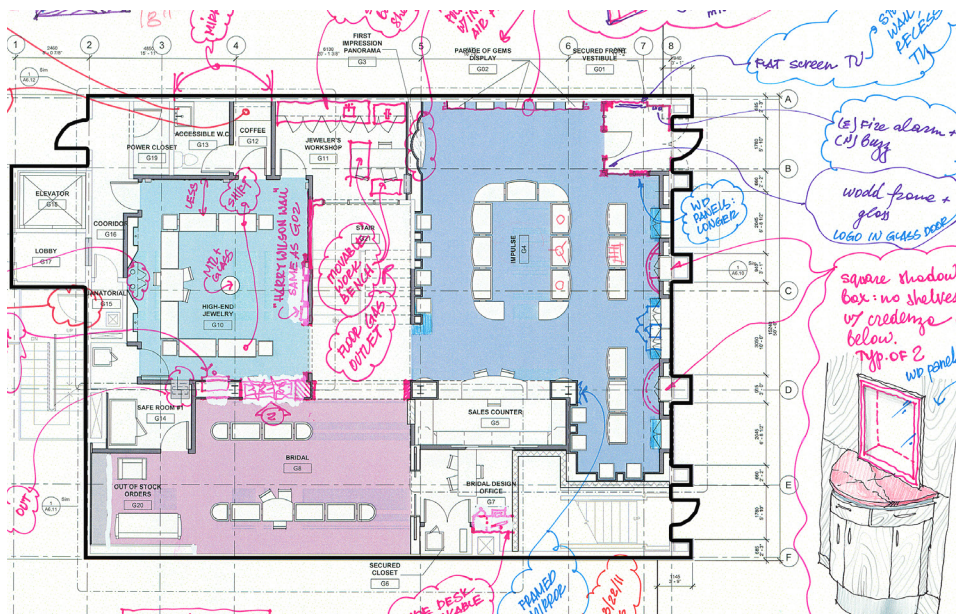

OS was commissioned to provide tenant packages and building facelift (core-and-shell upgrades) for this 3-story building in Cherry Creek North-Denver's upscale shopping district.

Sophisticated elegance; old-world craft with new-world airiness; uncompromising attention to detail molded our design inspiration. Jewelry store sales floor is functionally divided into high-end jewelry, fashion items, impulse buying. Custom cabinetry with client's logos and corporate colors were designed by OS and procured internationally.

Driving force behind exterior upgrade was client's desire to establish a high-end jewelry destination. The team executed 3-color natural stone plinth and modeled plaster attic level.

Industrial quarters for custom jewelry fabrication and repair are located at lower level. Fabrication floor is equipped with provisions for precious metals welding, polishing, stone setting, and final finish.

Upper level bridal shop features open floor plate and contemporary display with in-shelf lighting and enfilades of mirrored casework.
